is presented to

American Foundation for Suicide Prevention

Established in 1987, the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention (AFSP) is a voluntary health organization that gives those affected by suicide a nationwide community empowered by research, education and advocacy to take action against this leading cause of death. AFSP is dedicated to saving lives and bringing hope to those affected by suicide.

Stanley A. Camhi is co-chair of the firm's Litigation and Appellate Practice Groups, and a member of its Labor and Employment Practice Group. Stan and his wife Dale have been involved in AFSP since 2004. Dale founded the Long Island chapter and Stan served as a former board of director. Both Stan and Dale continue to support AFSP's mission in the Long Island community.
