Head Injury Association

Head Injury Association (HIA) is a not-for-profit organization committed to ensuring that survivors of Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) and individuals with intellectual disabilities maximize their potential for recovery and are provided with the tools necessary to achieve the valued outcomes of Individualization, Independence, Integration, and Productivity. HIA seeks to increase public awareness of traumatic brain injury and its consequences, as well obtain solutions to the many problems facing head injured survivors and their families.

HIA strives by political and educational means, to ensure that the head injured survivor has all the requisite medical and rehabilitative systems available and is able to live with dignity in a comfortable, accessible environment with recreational and vocational opportunities.

HIA recognizes the devastating impact of TBI upon family and friends. HIA works closely with families to provide a network of support programs to aid caregivers in coping with the daily stress of severe, and possibly prolonged, disabilities.

Stanley A. Camhi, co-chair of Jaspan Schlesinger's Litigation and Appellate Practice Group has been helping HIA carry out their mission.
