ABOUT ONE WORLD GIRL

One World Girl is a nonprofit organization working to equip girls to become changemakers through arts-based learning that emphasizes the power of diversity and taking action to create positive, lasting change. One World Girl envisions a future where every girl uses her unique abilities and authentic power to positively transform the world.

WORKING WITH JASPAN SCHLESINGER

Simone Freeman is a supporter and shares the organization's values: Diversity, Creativity, Global Understanding, Mentorship, Impact, and Safety. Simone has participated in One World Girl's virtual leadership workshop designed to encourage elementary and middle school children to be positive "changemakers" in their communities through breakout sessions and discussion regarding Simone's personal career path, as well as that of prominent female leaders.
